members of guideline development groups include health professionals, researchers, people who have personal experience of the illness or condition covered by the guideline, and their family members swedish home furnishings retailer ikea this year gave thousands of workers at its u.s further, define the following age structure characteristics: